

Quarantine

I feel so alone

Isolated from everyone

All of my internal defenses have come undone

Away from home, from friends, from family

In a new city surrounded by strangers

My mental health is endangered

Scared to get sick

Scared to be alone

Social interaction comes from the telephone

I put on a brave face

What's the big deal?

Just another mask used to conceal